SUMMARY

Product manager with 8+ years across a marketplace I founded, a web app and an EdTech course catalogue. At Phatse I took an online party marketplace from zero to ₹6 lakh in bookings in two months, at about ₹600 to acquire each customer. At K2U I owned a 57-course Salesforce training portfolio and specified an AI workflow that cut course update cycles from 80-90 days to 30-45.

EXPERIENCE

Product Manager, K2 Partnering Solutions (K2U, formerly Focus on Force)

Sep 2022 - Oct 2026

Remote

- Specified an AI workflow that reads Salesforce release notes and flags the exact course content that needs updating; engineering built it. Update cycles fell from 80-90 days to 30-45, and the work needed 3 people instead of 5.
- Specified a learner progress dashboard, built by engineering, that helped lift overall course completion by 24%.
- Owned a 57-course Salesforce training portfolio and launched about 45 of the courses, from demand research and customer definition through launch and maintenance.
- Sized demand, studied competitors and proposed pricing for each new course, and prepared post-launch projections.
- Spoke with learners after purchase to understand why they bought and where they got stuck.
- Proposed a feature to predict learner retention and lifetime value; a first part of it was built.
- Tested new Salesforce apps in dev and UAT orgs before release and logged bugs for the developers.
- Ran delivery in Jira (kanban, with agile or waterfall by project) within approved budgets, working with engineers, external SMEs and marketing.
- Led the content move for the whole catalogue during the rebrand from Focus on Force to K2U.

Founder and CEO, Phatse (Celebratious)

- Designed an instant referral reward that kept acquisition cost near ₹600 a customer, against ₹4,800 in commission per customer over 2 years (8:1). The first booking covered the cost.
- The referral feature drove 50% month-over-month growth and cut churn by 22%.
- Interviewed 100+ customers and event organisers and set roadmap priorities from what they said; NPS rose 30%.
- Led a team of 18: 8 engineers, 5 in sales and marketing, and 5 interns. Ran Google Ads for acquisition.
